WAYFARER SERVES UP A SNACK PACK FOR KIDS

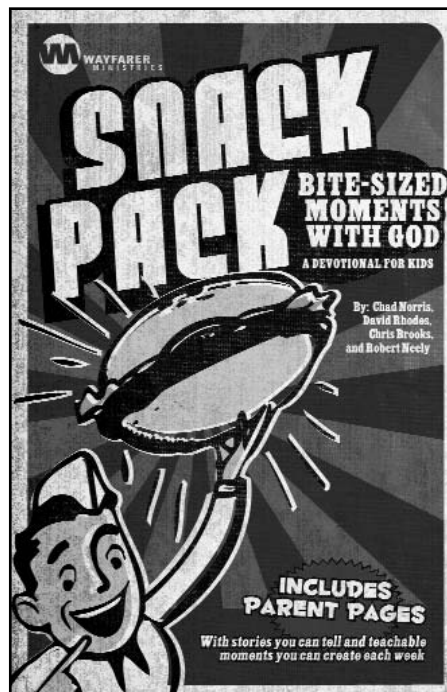

In the first months after Wayfarer began in 2000, Dave and Chad came up with the idea to do a devotional book for kids age 8-12. They laid out the book, but that diagram stayed in the files for several years because the Wayfarer team didn't have the time or the money to take on the project.

Then last fall, as Wayfarer negotiated a contract to write summer-camp curriculum for Crosspoint sports camps, a window opened for us to distribute a kids' devotional book to the 26,000 children that will attend Crosspoint and Centrifuge camps this summer. In addition, Dave and Chad will speak to thousands of children at Student Life Kids Camps this summer. With these distribution opportunities before us, the Wayfarer team decided to take on the project of self-publishing this devotional book.

So this spring, Snack Pack: Bite-Sized Moments with God was born. This nine-week devotion book is designed to help children discover what it means to come into a relationship with God and begin to follow Him.

The book has three sections. Part 1 is called "Supersized:

Discovering a huge God." For the first three weeks of this devotion, kids will think about who God is, what He does, and what He wants from us.

The second part is called "Swirled Together: Building a relationship between God and me." In this section, kids study about how God sees us, how we can build a relationship with Him, and how He changes our behavior.

The final part of the book is entitled "The proof is in the pudding: Putting faith into action." In this section, kids will be led to ask the questions of why we need church, how we should treat others, and how we can share God with our friends.

In addition, there is a parent's page at the end of each week of devotions. This page gives parents ideas of a story they can tell and a teachable moment they can create to help their kids experience the truths they've been learning in their everyday lives.

You can preview the first week of Snack Pack devotions on-line at www.wayfarerministries.org. Later this summer, we will also post a leader's guide on-line so that church groups can integrate Snack Pack into their children's ministries.

If you're interested in learning more about Snack Pack or in purchasing copies for some important kids in your life, contact Wayfarer using the information below.

We believe God is going to do great things through Snack Pack. Please pray for the children, parents, and church groups that will be using this new resource in the coming months.

SPRING REVIEW OF ENGAGE, THE SHADE

It was a great spring for both Engage and The Shade, Wayfarer's worship services designed to minister to our home community of upstate South Carolina.

Engage went through two series. The "Old School" series voiced some of the biggest questions the 20-somethings in the Engage community have and then looked to Old Testament stories to see how God answered these questions. It was a fun series, highlighted by a Valentine's Day extravaganza that featured the first-ever Engage jukebox. We tallied more than 1,800 votes in an on-line poll to see which old-school love song we should use during Engage.

Engage then moved to "The Intersection" to see how the different aspects of the attitude of Christ work together. And to close out the season, Engage held a special Q&A night.

At the end of the season, Chris Orr stepped down as Engage's worship leader. For the past 2 1/2 years, Chris has done a great job of leading the Engage community in worship, and we're thankful to have had him as a partner for this time and to have him as a friend moving forward.

The Shade held its second season for six weeks this spring. We changed the vibe of The Shade services, going toward more of an informal coffee-house feel.

David Walker joined us to lead worship during this series and did a great job of contributing to The Shade team.

This summer, Engage will meet four times -- twice in June and twice in August. We'll also be working hard on the coming fall season with both Engage in Greenville and The Shade's community in Spartanburg.
